

COSMELAN DEPIGMENTATION TREATMENT

Skin aging caused by systematic sun exposure, facial blemishes due to excessive pigmentation and, in general, imperfections caused by melanin are more and more common problems today. Dark blemishes, especially on the hands and face, are one of the greatest aesthetic concerns of modern men and women. It will only be possible to remove the anti-aesthetic skin blemishes and recover the smoothness of the skin, bringing back its luminosity, with a treatment that has a direct effect on the intimate formation process of the pigment (melanin). Cosmelan depigmentation treatment is suitable for all skin types with a very high safety margin. Cosmelan depigmentation treatment action mechanism is based on the inhibition of tyrosase, a basic enzyme in the formation process of melanin. Several of the substances present in the Cosmelan formula act by blocking this enzyme or even by inverting the metabolic process of the transformation chain. Cosmelan depigmentation treatment involves a very versatile, dynamic process which is easily adapted to the needs of each individual patient.
